Youth leadership Seminar - Assam

Through value-based teaching, interactive games, group discussions, and a lively talent show, the youth were encouraged to discover their strengths, express themselves confidently, and learn from one another. The sessions went beyond leadership concepts to emphasise integrity, responsibility, and the importance of making choices that positively influence others.

In a unique initiative to nurture the potential of rural youth, CEPHAS Foundation organised a two-day leadership workshop that brought together 180 young people for a time of learning, reflection, and inspiration. The workshop focused on helping participants recognise their abilities, make career choices, and understand their role as responsible members of their families and communities.

Honouring Honest Work, Inspiring Dignity

In a small, underprivileged community in Chennai, people from diverse occupations came together for a motivational session on integrity and the dignity of honest work.

The session encouraged participants to take pride in their work, remain honest in their responsibilities, and recognise that every occupation has value when carried out with sincerity and commitment.

As a gesture of encouragement and support, 15 individuals received kitchen utensils to help meet their household needs.
